

Terms and Conditions of Use Evidence Analysis Library®

Please read these Terms and Conditions before accessing the Evidence Analysis Library® (EAL®). By accessing or using the EAL®, you signify your assent to these Terms and Conditions. If you do not agree to all of these Terms and Conditions, do not access the EAL®.

The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics (Academy) may revise and update these Terms and Conditions at any time. Your continued access of the EAL® will mean you accept those changes.

The EAL® does not provide medical advice. The contents of the EAL®, such as text, graphics, evidence-based recommendations and other material contained in the EAL® are intended to serve as a synthesis of the best evidence available to inform registered dietitians as they individualize nutrition care for their clients. Guidelines are provided with the express understanding that they do not establish or specify particular standards of care, whether legal, medical or other.

I. Use of Content

The Academy authorizes you to view the material on the EAL® solely for your personal, noncommercial use. Use of the EAL® is limited to the number of users for your subscription. No portion of the content may be used for commercial exploitation (for example, by resale to others or by republication to the public) without prior written consent from the Academy. For permission to cite EAL® content, please email your request to eal@eatright.org. No portion of the EAL® may be posted or distributed other than to individual patients of a user who has a subscription to the EAL® without prior written consent. For information on how to cite EAL® content, visit: <https://www.anddeal.org/citing-content>

Without limiting the forgoing, you may not decompile, reverse engineer, disassemble, rent, lease, loan, sell, sublicense, or create derivative works from the EAL® or from its content. Nor may you use any network monitoring or discovery software to determine the site architecture, or extract information about usage, individual identities or users. You may not use any robot, spider, other automatic software or device, or manual process to monitor the EAL® or the content without the Academy's prior written permission. You may not use the content in any way that harms the Academy, our employees, or content experts. You may not use the EAL® as a destination linked from any unsolicited bulk or commercial messages (spam). You may not use or otherwise export or re-export the EAL or any portion thereof, or the Content in violation of the export control laws and regulations of the United States of America. Any unauthorized use of the EAL® or the content is prohibited.

The EAL® is protected by copyright under both the United States and foreign laws. Title to the content remains with the Academy. Any use of the content not expressly permitted by these Terms and Conditions is a breach of these Terms and Conditions and a violation of copyright, trademark and other laws. If you violate these Terms and Conditions, your permission to use the EAL® automatically terminates and you must immediately destroy any copies you have made of any portion of the content.

II. Term and Renewal

The EAL® is provided on an annual basis from the date of purchase. Renewal invoices will be sent automatically unless a written request to cancel the subscription is emailed to eal@eatright.org no later than 15 days before the annual expiration date. Access to the EAL® will be terminated if the annual invoice is not paid within 30 days of being issued.

III. Representations/Indemnifications

The Academy warrants that nothing in EAL® is subject to any claims of infringement or misappropriation by any third party. To the extent that any third party may claim rights in or to the content, the Academy will indemnify and hold harmless User for any costs, expenses or amounts arising from such claim, including all amounts expended in attorney fees, or alternatively shall assume the defense of such claims.

The foregoing indemnities are conditioned on prompt written notice of any claim, action or demand for which indemnity is claimed; complete control of the defense and settlement thereof by the indemnifying party;; and cooperation of the indemnified party in such defense.

IV. Limitation of Liability

To the maximum extent permitted by applicable law, in no event shall the Academy be liable to User for any indirect, special, incidental, consequential, punitive, or exemplary damages (including damages related to delays, loss of data, interruption of service or loss of use, business, revenue, or profits) in connection with this agreement, use or inability to use the EAL®, under any legal theory, even if the Academy has been advised of the possibility of such damages. In no event shall the Academy be liable for any third party claim. Liability for damages shall be limited and/or excluded as provided in these Terms and Conditions, even if any exclusive remedy provided for in these Terms and Conditions fails of its essential purpose. The Academy's total liability to Use and User's exclusive remedy for any actual or alleged damages arising out of, based on or related to this agreement, whether based in contract, tort (including negligence), warranty or any other legal theory, shall be limited to the amount of license fees (if any) actually paid by User during the term of this subscription.

V. Intellectual Property Rights

The Academy shall retain all right, title and interest, including copyright and intellectual property rights, in and to the EAL®. Except for the users rights expressly granted in Section I, no express or implied license, right or interest in or to any intellectual property of the Academy is conferred by this document. User shall not remove any proprietary rights notice from the EAL®.

User shall not use, or cause to permit to be used by any person, any logo, trademarks, service marks, trade names or copyrights of the Academy without the Academy's prior written consent, other than the limited uses authorized in these Terms and Conditions.

All rights in the EAL®, whether now existing or which may hereafter come into existence which are not specifically granted to User in this document, are reserved by the Academy. All subsidiary rights are held by the Academy unless negotiated in written agreement by all parties concerned.

VI. Complete Agreement

These Terms and Conditions constitute the entire agreement between you and the Academy with respect to the use of the Evidence Analysis Library. Questions or comments regarding the EAL® should be sent to:
